Red Wings senior vice-president Jim Devellano can be credited with carefully building Detroit's back to back 1997 and 1998 Stanley Cup championship teams through 16 years of successful draft selections and savvy trade and free agent acquisitions. Entering his 17th season with the Red Wings, Devellano has been a driving force behind Detroit's steady rise from one of the NHL's weakest teams into the powerful club that has reached the Stanley Cup finals three of the last four years, culminating with last season's repeat championship, giving Devellano his fifth Stanley Cup ring (three with the New York Islanders, two with Detroit).

Devellano was the first individual hired by owners Mike and Marian Ilitch after purchasing the Red Wings in June of 1982. He was the team's general manager for eight seasons before ascending to his current position of senior vice-president July 13, 1990. An excellent judge of talent throughout his 32 years in the NHL, Devellano believes that building a solid foundation begins with a capable scouting staff and strong Entry Draft selections. An impressive fourteen players on last season's club were drafted under the Devellano regime.

Jim Devellano was one of the first NHL general managers to assemble a strong European scouting staff back in 1984 which has produced high caliber players such as Sergei Fedorov, Slava Kozlov and Vladimir Konstantinov. Players such as Nicklas Lidstrom, Tomas Holmstrom and Anders Eriksson were discovered by Detroit's Swedish scouts.

Through the course of Devellano's tenure with the Red Wings, Detroit has participated in six conference finals ('87, '88, '95, '96, '97, '98) and three Stanley Cup Finals ('95, '97, '98), collected two Presidents' Trophies ('95, '96), three regular season Western Conference championships ('94, '95, '96) and six division championships ('88, '89, '92, '94, '95, '96). In addition, the Red Wings American League farm team has won three Calder Cup Championships ('86, '89, '92) as the AHL's playoff champions.

Devellano's lengthy tenure as head of hockey operations for the Red Wings is second only to the 35 years served by the late Jack Adams, the legendary G.M. credited with building the Red Wing dynasty of the 1950's. In addition to his duties as senior vice-president, Jim serves as the team's alternate on the NHL's Board of Governors. Currently there are three NHL general managers who have succeeded under Devellano's tutelage — Detroit's general manager Ken Holland, Neil Smith of the New York Rangers and Darcy Reiger in Buffalo.

Devellano, 55, did not play professional hockey but rose through the ranks in various capacities in his native Toronto. Joining current Red Wings coach Scotty Bowman, he became a scout with the St. Louis Blues in 1967 when the NHL expanded from six to 12 teams. The Blues reached the Stanley Cup final in each of their first three seasons. Also, it was Devellano who strongly recommended the hiring of Scotty Bowman to Mike Ilitch that led to Bowman's hiring with the Wings.

Joining the New York Islanders as a scout when that club was founded in 1972, Devellano's scouting skills helped to build a team that won four consecutive Stanley Cup titles (1980-83). In 79-80, he became G.M. of the Islanders' Indianapolis (CHL) farm club and was named Minor League Executive of the Year by The Hockey News in his first year. He returned to New York in '81 as the Islanders' assistant general manager.

Devellano recently signed a four-year deal to remain in his current position through 2002.

Ken Holland began his tenure as Detroit's general manager last season as the club won its second Stanley Cup championship in as many years. Entering his 16th year with the organization and second as general manager, Holland continues to make the necessary personnel decisions to put the club in position for a third straight title.

In his new and expanded role, he oversees all aspects of hockey operations including all matters relating to player personnel, development, contract negotiations and player movements. Due to his numerous responsibilities as GM, Holland now plays a less prominent role at the NHL Entry Draft, after being the main point person during his seven years as amateur scouting director. In that capacity, he can be credited with selecting some of Detroit's best young talent, including Vyacheslav Kozlov, Darren McCarty, Chris Osgood and Martin Lapointe, along with several other top prospects.

Holland, 43, has deftly handled several different front-office duties for the club over the past 15 years. At the conclusion of his playing days as a goaltender, spending most of his pro career at the American Hockey League level, Holland began his off-ice career in '85 as a western Canada scout followed by five years as amateur scouting director and three years as assistant general manager before being elevated to his present position July 18, 1997.

A native of Vernon, BC, Holland played in the junior ranks for Medicine Hat (WHL) in 74-75. He was Toronto's 13th pick (188th overall) in the '75 draft but never saw action with the Maple Leafs. Holland twice signed with NHL teams as a free agent — in '80 with Hartford and '83 with Detroit. He spent most of his pro career with AHL clubs in Binghamton and Springfield, along with Adirondack, but did appear in four NHL games, making his debut with Hartford in 80-81 and playing three contests for Detroit in 83-84. In February of 1998, Holland was inducted to the Binghamton Hall of Fame.

Ken and his wife Cindy have four children, Brad, Julie, Rachel and Greg, and reside in suburban Detroit.

Jim Nill, recently promoted to assistant general manager, enters his fifth season as part of Detroit's management team after having served the previous four years as director of player development/AHL scout. Upon retiring as a player after a nine-year NHL career, Nill established a reputation as an outstanding scout with a sharp eye for talent which led him to his current job with the organization.

In his new position, Nill will serve as general manager of the Adirondack Red Wings and continue to assume responsibility of running the amateur draft for Detroit. He will also continue to focus on the club's prospects in the Canadian junior and European leagues.

Nill, 40, joined the Red Wings' front office in the summer of 1994 after three seasons with the Ottawa Senators. Starting with Ottawa as an amateur scout, he was promoted to pro scout after only two years.

Jim was no stranger to Detroit when he moved into the executive level. He spent his final 2½ years as an NHL player with the Red Wings after being acquired from Winnipeg Jan. 10, 1988, for Mark Kumpel. Nill later went to Adirondack as a player/coach, retiring as a player after the 90-91 season. Nill also played for St. Louis, Vancouver and Boston recording 58 goals, 87 assists and 854 PIM in 524 regular-season games.

The native of Hanna, AB, played for Medicine Hat (WHL) in the junior ranks, one year at the University of Calgary and was on the Canadian National and Olympic teams in 79-80. He was St. Louis' fourth pick (89th overall, fifth round) in the '78 Entry Draft and also played for Vancouver and Boston.

Jim and wife Bekki reside in suburban Detroit with daughters Jenna and Kristin and son Trevor.

Guiding the Red Wings to a second straight Stanley Cup championship in 1998 and the ninth in the franchise's 72 year history, Scotty Bowman earned his eighth Cup as coach (ninth overall) to equal the previous record held by the legendary Toe Blake. With the four-game sweep of Washington, Bowman improved his record to 32-21 which matches the record for most coaching wins in the finals (32), a title shared by Blake and Dick Irvin. Entering his sixth season as Detroit's head coach and 27th in his storied NHL career, Bowman looks to lead the team to a third consecutive Cup and to own the title for most Stanley Cup championships as coach. Bowman holds the distinction of being the only head coach in NHL history to win a Cup with three different teams.

Already a Hall of Famer and the winningest coach in National Hockey League past and present, Bowman met a seemingly unreachable milestone upon recording his 1000th regular-season victory Feb. 8, 1997 at Pittsburgh. Among his other remarkable achievements, Bowman is also the only coach in NHL history to guide a team to a 60-win season; achieving it twice ('77, '96).

In 1995-96, he led the Red Wings to their second consecutive Presidents' Trophy, posting a 62-13–7 mark for a franchise-best 131 points. Their 62 wins set an NHL record for wins in a season topping the 19-year old record of 60 set by Bowman's 1976-77 Montréal Canadiens. The four best victory and point totals in NHL history belong to Bowman coached teams (62 wins — 131 points by Detroit in 95-96, 60 wins — 132 points by Montréal in 76-77, 59 wins — 129 points by Montréal in 77-78, and 58 wins — 127 points by Montréal in 75-76). Also in the 95-96 campaign, Detroit captured it's third consecutive Central Division title and led the Western Conference in points.

On December 29, 1995 at Dallas he set a new NHL record for most games coached with 1607, surpassing Al Arbour. He is the only coach to register 1,000 victories overall in the regular season and playoffs combined. The total was 1251 entering this season — 1057-484–277 in 1818 regular-season games and 194-111 in 305 playoff contests. He reached the 900 mark in regular-season victories March 25, 1995 at Vancouver after posting his 1,000th overall triumph the season before on Feb. 2, 1994, at Tampa Bay. He has the best regular-season winning percentage (.658) of anyone who has coached at least 600 regular-season games.

Twelve times in 26 seasons including three of the last four years, Bowman has been to the Cup final, second behind Dick Irvin (16). Scotty ranks first on the all-time playoff coaching ledger in victories, games, playoff series, and series won. He has coached in 59 series and won 43. Among those coaching a minimum of 65 postseason games, Bowman's .636 winning percentage is third after Glen Sather (.706) and Blake (.689). In the Stanley Cup finals, Bowman is second in games (53) in the finals after Irvin (77) and surpassing Blake (48) last season.

Bowman, 65, became the 22nd head coach in Detroit history June 15, 1993, signing a two-year deal, and on June 24, 1994, he added the title of director of player personnel, a post which he held through the 1996-97 season. At the conclusion of the 1996-97 Cup-winning season, Bowman signed a two-year contract to return as head coach.

Before coming to Detroit, Bowman had coached Pittsburgh the previous two seasons, including a Cup title in 1992. Scotty had earned another Stanley Cup ring in 1991 when he was Pittsburgh's director of player development and recruitment. In 1991-92, Bowman took the reins as the Penguins' coach when the late Bob Johnson became ill. Scotty remained in the dual role through the 92-93 season.

When Detroit won the Central Division in 1995-96, it was Bowman's 13th division title. Seven times his teams have been first overall in the NHL, and one of his clubs tied for best record. Bowman's teams have amassed 100 or more points 12 times and missed the playoffs only twice.

Bowman broke into the NHL coaching ranks with the St. Louis Blues in the 1967-68 season, when the NHL expanded from six to 12 teams. The Blues advanced to the Cup final in each of their first three seasons and won two division titles.

Moving in 1971 to Montréal — where he earlier had worked and coached in the Canadiens' minor league system — Bowman achieved remarkable success. He won the Stanley Cup five times (1973 and '76 through '79) and rang up six division titles in eight seasons. In seven of his eight seasons in Montréal, the Canadiens notched more than 100 points and missed the mark once with 99. The 76-77 club holds the league record for fewest defeats (8) in a season of 70 or more games.

Bowman went to the Buffalo Sabres in 1979, where he was general manager and shared coaching duties until 1987. He won a division title in his first year behind the Buffalo bench in 79-80.

After leaving the Sabres, Bowman worked for CBC-TV's "Hockey Night in Canada" from 1987 until joining Pittsburgh's front office in June of '90.

Bowman is also a proven winner at the international level, coaching Team Canada to the 1976 Canada Cup title. He also guided Team Canada in the '81 Canada Cup and the NHL All-Stars in a three-game series against the Soviet Union in '79. Scotty was inducted into the Hockey Hall of Fame in 1991.

William Scott Bowman was born Sept. 18, 1933 in Montréal. He and wife Suella have five children, Alicia, David, Stanley, Bob and Nancy, and spend the off-season in suburban Buffalo.

Barry Smith's coaching success continued with the Wings' second consecutive Cup, marking the second time in his career he has contributed to back-to-back championships, the last time with Pittsburgh ('91, '92). Entering his sixth year as Red Wings' associate coach primarily assigned to work with the team's forwards, Smith draws on his vast coaching experience from his stops at the collegiate, international and National Hockey League levels to instruct and motivate. As a credit to his international reputation, Smith was selected to be an assistant coach for Sweden's national team in the 1998 Olympic Games in Nagano, Japan. His varied background has enabled him to employ innovative ideas that have greatly improved an already successful Red Wing hockey team.

Smith was largely responsible for implementing the "left wing lock" defensive system he discovered while watching teams in Sweden. The entire team bought into the plan which stresses defensive play first, and the results were evident by Detroit's low goals-against average the last few seasons.

Smith has found success at every level he has coached. In addition to the consecutive Cups with Detroit ('97 and '98) and Pittsburgh ('91 and '92), he has won championships while coaching at collegiate and international levels. In the summer of '96, Smith was selected to serve as assistant coach for Team Sweden in the inaugural World Cup of Hockey. Later that season, Barry took a temporary leave from the Red Wings to assume the head coaching duties with Malmo of the Swedish Elite League, yet returned in time for Detroit's playoff run in the spring.

Smith, 47, came to Detroit July 28, 1993, after being an assistant at Pittsburgh for three seasons, first under the late Bob Johnson and then two years with Bowman while the Penguins won Stanley Cup titles in '91 and '92. Smith also spent three years as an assistant with the Buffalo Sabres.

Barry entered the coaching ranks in 1975 as head coach at Elmira (NY) College while earning a masters degree in education. His clubs won three Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference titles and twice went to the NCAA Division III Finals.

Moving to Europe, Smith coached in Sweden from 1981-84 and Norway form 1984-86, serving as an assistant on the Norwegian club in the World Championships. He also scouted European prospects for the Sabres and in March of '86 he went to Buffalo as Bowman's assistant. Smith worked one year under Bowman and remained in Buffalo until 1989, when he journeyed to Italy for one season to coach the Alleghe club and the Italian National Team. He joined the Penguins in 1990-91 as Johnson's assistant, and also was an aide to Johnson on Team USA in the 1991 Canada Cup.

The Buffalo native received a degree in physical education in 1972 from Ithaca (NY) College where he starred in hockey and football. He was elected to the school's Hall of Fame in 1992.

Barry and wife Mary have a son, Ryan, and a daughter, Molly, and spend the off-season in suburban Buffalo.

Entering his 11th year with the club, Dave Lewis has been a mainstay on the coaching staff holding the distinction of having worked with three different head coaches beginning with Jacques Demers, followed by Bryan Murray and continuing with Scotty Bowman. Lewis' 15 years as an NHL defenseman prepared him for his career as an associate coach focusing primarily on the team's defensive corps. His other duties include extensive video work used in pre-scouting opponents.

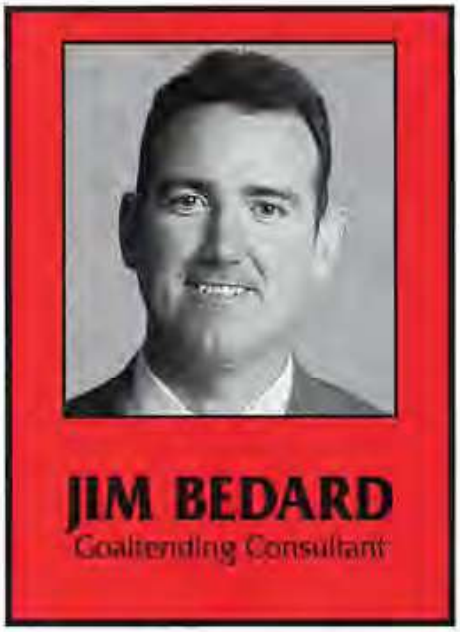
Lewis, 44, joined the coaching staff immediately after retiring as a player Nov. 6, 1987, amid his 15th NHL season. This is his 12th year in the Detroit organization since signing as a free agent (no compensation) July 28, 1986. The 1996-97 Stanley Cup championship with Detroit was the first of his career.

A native of Kindersley, SK, Lewis played junior hockey for Saskatoon (WHL) and was the New York Islanders' second pick (33rd overall) in the 1973 Entry Draft (selected by Jim Devellano, the Islanders' chief scout at the time). Lewis jumped from the junior ranks to the NHL and never played in the minor leagues.

Dave's biggest milestone came when he played in his 1,000th regular-season game Apr. 1, 1987, against Philadelphia at Joe Louis Arena. In all, he played 1,008 regular-season games with the Islanders, Los Angeles, New Jersey and Detroit, recording 36 goals, 187 assists and 953 penalty minutes. He also appeared in 91 playoff games, with one goal, 20 assists and 143 penalty minutes.

Away from the rink, Dave is actively involved with the Make-A-Wish Foundation. Through his efforts over the past eight years, the proceeds from the Dave Lewis Detroit Red Wings Fantasy Camp games and celebrity auction have raised over $90,000 for the Make-A-Wish Foundation.

Dave and wife Brenda live in suburban Detroit and have a son, Ryan, and daughter, Meagan.



Goaltending consultant Jim Bedard enters his second season with the Red Wings organization. As a consultant, Bedard works with all goaltenders in the Detroit system splitting most of his time between Detroit and Adirondack.

Bedard played his junior hockey for the Sudbury Wolves of the Ontario Hockey League before being drafted by the Washington Capitals in the 1976 Entry Draft. He played for the organization for a total of five years, two of which were spent at the NHL level. Following his days with Washington, he traveled to Europe to play for TPS in Turku, Finland for 14 seasons.

At the conclusion of his playing days in 1994, Bedard began his coaching career working with goalies in the Ontario Hockey League getting his start with the Niagara Falls Thunder and then becoming an assistant coach for the Erie Otters. In addition, he served as a goaltending consultant for elite teams in Europe.

Bedard, 42, spends the off-season in his hometown of Niagara Falls, Ontario with his wife Arja and daughter Seija.

Dan Belisle enters his 17th season with the Red Wings organization, and 13th as the club's top NHL scout. Coaches and management rely heavily on Belisle to provide the valuable insight needed to evaluate talent and consider player personnel decisions. Belisle is frequently called upon to provide key information used in making potential trade and free agent acquisitions or preparing for opponents.

Belisle, 61, joined the organization in 1982-83 as an assistant coach under Nick Polano. He remained as an assistant to Harry Neale and Brad Park, then assumed his present position in the summer of '86.

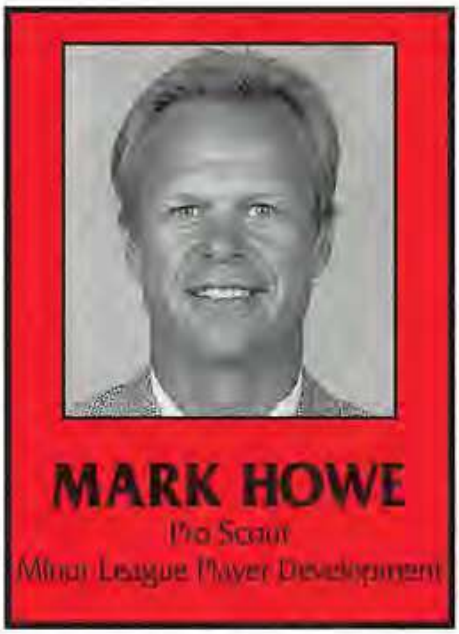
A successful minor-league coach, Belisle was appointed head coach of the Washington Capitals in 78-79, remaining there until early in the 79-80 season.

Dan returned to the minors in 80-81 as general manager/coach at Dallas (CHL), guiding that club to the regular-season title and winning the league's Coach of the Year award (one of four times he received such an honor in the minors).

Belisle made his pro coaching debut in 72-73 with Des Moines (IHL) and won the league title in his second season. He moved to Syracuse (NAHL) in 75-76, winning regular-season and playoff championships in his second year, then went to Philadelphia (AHL) in 77-78.

A native of South Porcupine, ON, Belisle spent most of his 15-year playing career as a right wing in the minors, although he played four games for the New York Rangers in the 60-61 season. He retired as a player in '71.

Dan and wife Carol reside in Sarasota, FL, and have three grown children, Debra, Dan Jr. and Dee.



Mark Howe repeated family history as his name was engraved as the club's pro scout for the back to back championship seasons in 1997 and 1998. Before Mark, his father Gordie, played for Detroit's last back to back Cup-winning teams in 1954 and 1955. Ironically, another Howe of no relation to Mark and Gordie, Syd Howe, was with the club for its first three championships meaning that Detroit has never won a Cup without a Howe.

Mark enters his fourth year as part of the Wings' front office team and his seventh season with the organization. After ending his professional hockey career as an NHL defenseman on September 28, 1995, Howe joined the Red Wings front office as an assistant to the hockey department. In that capacity, he began scouting at the IHL and AHL level, however, his energies were primarily focused on preparing promising young defenseman for the NHL at the club's Adirondack (AHL) affiliate. He has worked with current Red Wing blueliners Anders Eriksson, Aaron Ward and Yan Golubovsky. This year, Mark will continue to scout the IHL, but he will also add some NHL games to his schedule to provide scouting reports on Detroit's playoff opponents.

On July 8, 1992, Howe returned to his hometown of Detroit when he signed as a free agent (no compensation). He appeared in 122 regular-season games in three seasons for Detroit, collecting eight goals and 56 assists.

Playing first in the WHA and then the NHL, Howe is the second-highest-scoring defenseman in professional hockey after current Red Wing Paul Coffey with 1247 points — 742 in 929 NHL regular-season games on 197 goals and 545 assists after 505 points in the WHA (208-247–505).

Howe was a First Team NHL All-Star defenseman in '83, '86 and '87, when he also was runner-up for the Norris Trophy. In 85-86, he led the league with a plus-85 and followed with a plus-57 to pace all NHL defenseman in 86-87. He was selected for five NHL All-Star games ('81, '83, '85, '86 and '88).

Mark and wife Ginger reside in suburban Detroit with sons Travis and Nolan and daughter Azia.

TRAINING & MEDICAL STAFF

John Wharton begins his eighth season as the team's athletic trainer responsible for keeping the players in optimum physical condition to ensure peak performance and injury prevention. Before coming to the Wings in February of 1991 as the club's strength and conditioning coordinator, Wharton had spent the previous five years at the Center for Athletic Medicine at Detroit's Henry Ford Hospital.

This summer, Wharton and partners Igor Larionov and Vyacheslav Kozlov opened The Training Room, a state-of-the-art fitness and sports medicine facility which provides the general public with a high caliber rehabilitation and fitness treatment usually only reserved for professional athletes. The Training Room will also serve as the official training center for the Wings.

Expanding his reputation internationally, he received one of the greatest honors of his career in the summer of 1996 when asked to serve as head athletic trainer for Team Russia during the inaugural World Cup of Hockey tournament.

Away from the hockey arena, Wharton ventured into the music business co-producing a benefit CD, "Believing in Detroit — A Tribute to Vladdy and Sergei," a compilation featuring several Detroit bands created to raise money for the family trust funds for Vladimir Konstantinov and Sergei Mnatsakanov.

The Flint native has a bachelor of science degree in sports medicine from Central Michigan University and is a certified strength and conditioning specialist. He was a hockey trainer at the '90 Goodwill Games and spent a season with the Detroit Lions. John and wife Jeanne reside in suburban Detroit with their son Luke and daughter Brookelyn.

Paul Boyer enters his fifth season as equipment manager, coming to Detroit after one season with the New Jersey Devils. A native of Sault Ste. Marie, ON, Paul earned a bachelor of science degree from nearby Lake Superior State University, then spent five years as the school's hockey trainer before heading for the NHL. Paul, his wife Helen and son Paul reside in suburban Detroit.

Assistant equipment manager Tim Abbott enters his seventh season with the club. The Mt. Clemens native attended L'Anse Creuse High School and Macomb Community College, then spent four years as assistant trainer for the Adirondack Red Wings. Tim, wife Kristen and son Tyler reside in suburban Detroit.

Team massuer Bob Huddleston returns to the Red Wings for his second season, 11th in the National Hockey League after nine years with the New Jersey Devils. Previously, Huddleston had been a massage therapist at Canyon Ranch Spa in Tucson, Arizona after graduating from the Desert Institute of Healing Arts which specializes in massage therapy. Huddleston and wife Wanda reside in Amarillo, Texas and have two grown sons, Jeff and Bill.

Lending a hand with the busy workload in the dressing room are assistants Wally Crossman who has been with the team since 1940 and Mike Vella who enters his third season.

The Red Wings' medical staff is comprised of John Finley, D.O. who is entering his 42nd season of service to the club; David Collon, M.D. (10th year); and C.J. Regula (16th year), D.M.D. Dr. Finley has a general practice in Southfield. Dr. Collon is director of orthopedic surgery at the Center for Athletic Medicine at Henry Ford Hospital and also serves the Tigers and Lions. Dr. Regula has a dental practice in Livonia.

RED WINGS ON THE AIR

Ken Daniels begins his second season as the Red Wings' television play-by-play announcer after joining the team from CBC television where he covered Toronto Maple Leafs hockey and Stanley Cup playoffs on Hockey Night in Canada.

While working for CBC, Daniels' diverse sports experience included hosting stints for CBC Sports Weekend and Indy-Car World Series, as well as Formula One Grand Prix coverage and Blue Jays baseball. Daniels' broadcast resume also includes two Olympic Games (1996, Atlanta; 1988, Seoul) where he covered a wide range of sports including cycling, baseball, canoeing, kayaking, tennis and judo.

In addition to his numerous television assignments for CBC, Daniels was also the voice of morning sports for Toronto's all sports radio station, THE FAN 590, for eight years.

Mickey Redmond enters his 13th year as color analyst on Red Wings television — WKBD UPN 50 and Fox Sports Detroit. Redmond is a highly regarded analyst whose broadcast resume includes work on nationally televised games for Fox Sports, ESPN (including ESPN International broadcasts of '97 and '98 Finals) and CBC's Hockey Night in Canada.

Mickey twice was a 50-goal scorer in five full seasons with Detroit after being acquired from Montréal with Guy Charron and Bill Collins for Frank Mahovlich in January of '71. He scored 52 goals and made the NHL's First All Star Team in '73, and netted 51 the next season to earn a Second-Team berth. He had 233 goals and 195 assists in 538 regular-season games in nine NHL seasons with Montréal and Detroit.

Toby Cunningham, winner of ten local Emmy Awards, enters his 19th season as executive producer for WKBD UPN 50 coverage of Red Wings hockey. Cunningham earned his most recent Emmy in May, 1997 for his directing of Red Wings telecasts. He has also earned four Associated Press honors for production of Red Wings games.

John Tuohey enters his second year as executive producer for Fox Sports Detroit telecasts. A native of Detroit and graduate of University of Michigan, Tuohey returned to his hometown in 1997 to launch Fox Sports Detroit, leaving his own production company in Chicago following ten years as executive producer at SportsChannel Chicago where he earned local Emmys for his work on Blackhawks, Bulls and White Sox telecasts.

Red Wings' radio team of play-by-play announcer Ken Kal and analyst Paul Woods return for their fourth season together behind the microphone on flagship station WJR-AM (760).

Before coming to the Red Wings, Kal handled the play-by-play duties for University of Michigan hockey for 11 years on Ann Arbor AM stations — seven on WTKA after the first four on WAAM, during which time he also covered the Red Wings as a reporter. Born and raised in the city of Detroit, Kal began his radio career immediately following graduation from Wayne State University in 1979 with his first job at WAAM, doing sports and working as a disc jockey.

In addition to his broadcast duties, Ken Kal represents the Red Wings in the community , often visiting schools or business groups, hosting team events and even playing for the Wings charity softball team. Kal is also a contributing writer to the team's official magazine, "Inside Hockeytown." Rounding out his administrative duties, Ken's also works with the broadcast department to expand the Red Wings radio network and maintain affiliate relations.

Paul Woods is back for his 12th year as color analyst for WJR, a career which began shortly after the conclusion of his retirement from the NHL. The native of Hespeler, ON, was drafted by Montréal in '75 but never played for the Canadiens and was obtained by Detroit in the '77 waiver draft. His seven-year stint with the Red Wings began in 1977-78 and ended after the '83-'84 season. He had 72 goals and 124 assists in 501 regular-season NHL games.

On a special note, Red Wings public address announcer and Hall of Fame broadcaster Budd Lynch celebrates his 50th anniversary with the team.

Following is the team's radio network (some stations broadcast a limited number of games):

TEAM HISTORY

Jimmy Orlando and Jack Stewart in 1939.

RED WINGS' HISTORY IN HOCKEYTOWN

A second consecutive Stanley Cup Championship concluded the Detroit Red Wings' 1997-98 season in what will long be remembered as one of the most fitting championship runs in all of sports. Following the team's 1996-97 Cup win, the first since 1955, the Red Wings and all of Hockeytown were afforded just six days of celebration before a tragic limousine accident seriously injured teammate Vladimir Konstantinov and masseur Sergei Mnatsakanov.

In dedicating the 1997-98 season to their injured friends, the Red Wings battled through the emotional and physical strains and past all opponents to win the Stanley Cup for the second straight year. On their sweaters, they wore a patch with the word "Believe" as a symbol of their support for two men's recovery. Both Konstantinov and Mnatsakanov returned to Joe Louis Arena to witness a playoff contest, and Konstantinov was present in Washington, DC when the Wings captured the Stanley Cup again. Captain Steve Yzerman placed the Cup on Konstantinov's lap as the Wings accompanied their wheelchair-bound teammate around the ice in a victory lap. An emotional scene that touched all fans throughout the sports world. Media from around the NHL wrote that never had one team deserved to repeat as much as this Red Wing squad.

While the 1996-97 and 1997-98 teams won the Stanley Cup, the 1995-96 campaign will be remembered as a season of remarkable individual and team accomplishments. The Red Wings finished atop the league with a franchise-best 131 points, shattering the previous club record of 103 set in 1992-93, and capturing the Presidents' Trophy for the second straight year. The club also clinched their third consecutive Western Conference regular-season title and their third straight Central Division title. One secret to the club's success was its commitment to defensive responsibility, boasting the fewest goals against in the league. Although Detroit was eliminated from the Western Conference Finals in six games by the eventual Stanley Cup winners, Colorado Avalanche, this team had an otherwise outstanding year.

The 70th anniversary season was also one for individual milestones such as Paul Coffey's 1000th assist on Igor Larionov's goal Dec. 13 vs Chicago, making Coffey only the fourth NHL player and first defenseman to reach that mark. On Dec. 29 at Dallas, Scotty Bowman set a new league record for most games coached (1607) passing the legendary Al Arbour. Fans had even more to celebrate as their captain, Steve Yzerman, recorded his 500th career goal Jan. 22 vs. Colorado making him only the 22nd NHL player to hit the 500-goal milestone.

Several Red Wings were also honored with NHL post-season award recognition. Scotty Bowman won his second career Jack Adams Award (Coach of the year), Sergei Fedorov collected his second Selke Trophy (best defensive forward), and goaltenders Chris Osgood and Mike Vernon earned the Jennings Trophy (fewest goals against). Also, Chris Osgood and Vladimir Konstantinov were named to the Second All-Star Team.

Detroit fans continued to flock to Joe Louis Arena. The club drew 817,125 in 41 home games for an average of 19,930. Entering this season, including regular season and playoffs, the Red Wings have drawn more than 19,000 for 399 of their last 401 games, including 287 in a row.

One of the most important dates in club history was June 22, 1982, when Mike Ilitch purchased a struggling franchise and transformed it into one of the NHL's best. In Ilitch's 14 years as an owner, the club has won six division titles (87-88, 88-89, 91-92, 93-94, '95, 95-96) and made the playoffs in that stretch, including nine of the past ten years.

Detroit's love affair with hockey goes back to the late 1920's and has continued to the present at Joe Louis Arena, which opened for hockey Dec. 27, 1979. The area has some of North America's finest youth programs, producing future players and cultivating lifelong fans.

Pro hockey arrived in Detroit Sept. 25, 1926, when a group of Detroit businessmen purchased an NHL franchise and stocked it with players from the Victoria Cougars of the Western Hockey League. The club was called the Detroit Cougars but played its inaugural season across the Detroit River in Canada at Windsor's Border Cities Arena.

The Cougars' first NHL game was Nov. 18, 1926, in which they dropped a 20 decision to the Boston Bruins. Detroit won the next game, 42 against the New York Americans, but finished last with a 12-28-4 record.

The Cougars moved into legendary Olympia Stadium on Grand River Avenue for their second season and played the first game there Nov.22, 1927. Detroit's Johnny Sheppard scored the first goal, but the Cougars suffered a 21 loss to the defending champion Ottawa Senators. Detroit registered its first home victory and shutout Nov. 27 as goaltender "Hap" Holmes posted a 20 decision over the Montréal Canadiens.

Arriving in 1927-28 was Jack Adams, whose 35-year career with the club left an indelible mark on hockey in Detroit and earned him a spot in the Hockey Hall of Fame.

In 1928-29, Detroit finished third and made the first of 44 playoff appearances in 69 seasons. The team changed its name to Falcons in 1930 when some Detroit media members thought a change might bring some luck to a club that had missed the playoffs the previous season. No luck, however, as Detroit again missed the playoffs, although the Falcons did gain a berth in 1931-32.

In the summer of 1932, American industrialist James Norris bought the franchise and renamed it Red Wings. He imported the name from Canada, where he had played hockey for a club called the Winged Wheelers in the Montréal Athletic Association. That team's insignia — a winged wheel — struck Norris as a natural for a club representing the Motor City. The logo became an automobile tire with a flying wing attached and has remained the same except for minor artistic variations.

The Red Wings became an NHL power under Norris and Adams. In 1933-34, they won the first of 14 regular-season NHL titles and reached the Stanley Cup final for the first time before bowing to the Chicago Blackhawks, three games to one, in a best-of-five series.

The Red Wings dominated the NHL in 1935-36 and 36-37, winning a pair of regular-season championships and their first two Stanley Cup titles — a prize the club has won seven times. Detroit won its third championship in 1943, but the best was yet to come.

Adams assembled a team in the late '40s that ranks among the NHL's greatest dynasties. Between the 1948-49 and 54-55 seasons, the Red Wings won seven consecutive regular-season titles — still a league record — and four Stanley Cup championships.

Detroit remained strong through the late 1950s and into the 60s, winning two more regular-season titles but bowing four times in the Cup final during that span.

The Norris family retained ownership of the team for 50 years. The elder Norris served as club president until his death in 1952 and was succeeded by his daughter, Marguerite. Norris' son, Bruce, took over as president in 1955 and remained until selling the club to Ilitch in '82.

The Red Wings have featured some of the game's brightest stars — including the greatest of them all, Gordie Howe — and continue to showcase some of the world's most talented players. Forty-six people associated with the club are in the Hockey Hall of Fame. Detroit players have been voted to post-season NHL All-Star teams 94 times, and club players, coaches and executives have won 54 individual league trophies.

MEDIA INFORMATION & GUIDELINES

Public Relations Office:
Phone 313/396-7535, Fax 313/567-0296

Media Hotline 313/396-7599

CREDENTIALS: Access to Detroit Red Wings home games and practices is available to accredited media specifically assigned to cover each event. Season credentials are granted to media covering virtually all of Red Wing home games. Single-game credentials must be requested in writing, on letterhead, at least 24 hours in advance of each contest. The DRW Public Relations fax is 313/567-0296.

Single-game credentials may be picked up at the Security Desk inside the West Gate of Joe Louis Arena beginning two hours prior to game time.

SEATING: Credentials permit access to the press room and to both teams' post-game locker rooms. Every effort will be made to accommodate all media with seating in the press box. However, seating in the press room may be required.

All media attending games are asked to phone the DRW Media Hotline at 313/396-7599 at least 24 hours in advance to request press box seating.

PRACTICE SCHEDULES: The DRW Media Hotline will be updated daily with upcoming practice times and event information (313/396-7599).

PHOTOGRAPHERS: Photo credentials will be issued on a single-game basis. Only those photographers on assignment from approved media outlets will be permitted access to Red Wings games and practices. Freelance photographers will not be issued credentials.

Photographers must shoot from designated photo areas only. Photo positions are assigned by team photographer Mark Hicks in the photo room located in the zamboni tunnel (West end of arena). Photographers requesting specific shooting locations must phone the DRW Media Hotline (313/396-7599) no later than 2 p.m. for night games and 10 a.m. for matinees.

Photographers desiring to rent or use their own strobes must contact the Red Wings Public Relations Office at least 48 hours in advance of each contest.

TELEVISION COVERAGE: All local television stations are prohibited by the National Hockey League from shooting and distributing footage inside Joe Louis Arena beginning 30 minutes prior to each contest and until all broadcast television rightsholders have signed off the air.

All local television stations desiring to shoot inside Joe Louis Arena must request to do so in advance through the DRW Public Relations Office and be accompanied by an assigned escort.

RADIO COVERAGE: All non-rightsholder radio stations are not permitted to broadcast live from inside Joe Louis Arena beginning 30 minutes prior to each contest and until all rights-holders have signed off the air.

PRESS ROOM: A press room for pre-game meals and working is available between the East Gate and the locker rooms. A pre-game meal will be served 90 minutes prior to each contest. Work area with electrical outlets, credit card pay phones and televisions is available in the Press Room.

PARKING: Limited parking for credentialed media by pass list is available at no charge in the media section of the city-owned Joe Louis Arena Garage. Please include your parking requests when making credential requests to the DRW Public Relations Office.

TICKETS: A limited number of single-game tickets to Red Wings home games are available for purchase by the media. Please contact John Hahn (313/396-7538) with all ticket requests.

PRACTICE SESSIONS: Dressing room is closed to media before and during practice sessions and opens 10 minutes after the first group of regular players leaves the ice. Access is limited to 30 minutes calculated from when access is first granted, although exceptions may be made. In the event of a team meeting immediately after practice, the room will open at the conclusion of the meeting.

PREGAME INTERVIEWS: Media seeking live or taped pregame interviews must request a coach or player before or during the game-day morning skate. Interviews are to be done apart from the dressing room and completed no later than two hours prior to game time.

GAME DAY/NIGHT: Dressing room will open to media no later than 10 minutes after the team leaves the ice. Access is limited to 45 minutes, although exceptions may be made.

OFF-LIMITS: Not open to media are the medical room, weight room, shower and sink area, and players' lounge.

*-Matinee Game

HOW TO FIGURE . . .

Assist: An assist is awarded to the player or players (maximum of two) who touched the puck prior to the goal, provided no defender plays or possesses the puck in between.

Game Played: A player receives credit for playing in a game if: i) he steps on the ice during time played or; ii) serves any penalty.

Game-Winning Goal: After the final score has been determined, the goal which leaves the winning Club one goal ahead of its opponent is the game-winning goal (example: if Team A beats Team B 8-3, the player scoring the fourth goal for Team A receives credit for the game-winning goal).

Game-Tying Goal: The final goal in a tie game.

Goal: A goal is awarded to the last player on the scoring Club to touch the puck prior to the puck entering the net.

Goals-Against Average: Multiply goals allowed (GA) by 60 and divide by minutes played (MINS).

Goaltender Win/Loss/Tie: A goaltender receives a win, tie or loss if he is on the ice when either the game-winning or game-tying goal is scored.

Penalty-Killing Percentage: Subtract total number of power-play goals allowed from total number of shorthanded situations to get total number of power-plays killed. Divide the total number of power-plays killed by the total number of shorthanded situations.

Plus-Minus: A player receives a "plus" if he is on the ice when his Club scores an even-strength or shorthand goal. He receives a "minus" if he is on the ice for an even-strength or shorthand goal scored by the opposing Club. The difference in these numbers is considered the player's plus-minus statistic.

Power-Play Goal: A goal scored by a Club while it has a manpower advantage due to an opponent's penalty. Following are some examples of what is and is not considered a power-play goal:

- if a Club has an advantage on a minor penalty starting at 2:02 of the period and it scores at 4:02, the goal is not a power-play goal.
- if a Club scores on a delayed penalty, the goal is not a power-play goal.
- if a Club has an advantage due to a five-minute major or match penalty, that Club is always credited with having one more advantage than the number of power-play goals it scores during that advantage, because the penalty does not expire a new advantage begins after such a power-play goal. For example, if Team A scores three goals during a major penalty, it is credited with four advantages.

- if a Club is on a power-play for any length of time it considered to have had an advantage.
- if a minor penalty is incurred by a Club on a power-play due to a major penalty, a new advantage is given to that Club when its minor penalty expires, provided the opponent's major penalty is still in effect.

Power-Play Percentage: Total number of power-play goals divided by total number of power-play opportunities.

Save Percentage: Subtract goals allowed (GA) from shots against (SA) to determine saves. Then divide saves by shots against.

Shooting Percentage: Divide the number of goals scored by the number of shots taken.

Shorthand Goal: A goal scored by a Club while it is at a manpower disadvantage due to an opponent's penalty. The same cases apply in a similar but opposite way for shorthand as for power-play goals.

Shot on Goal: If a player shoots the puck with the intention of scoring and if that shot would have gone in the net had the goaltender not stopped it, the shot is recorded as a "shot on goal".

Shutout: If two goaltenders combine for a shutout, neither receives credit for the shutout. Instead it is recorded as a Club shutout.

Tenths of a Second: If a penalty or goal occurs in the last minute, the time is rounded off to the previous second (ex: if a penalty is called with 12.4 seconds left in a period, the time is indicated as 19:47 and not 19:48.

Tie-Breaking Formula: In the event that two or more Clubs are tied for total points, the order of standings and draft order is determined as follows:

- the Club with the most victories will be placed higher in the standings.
- if Clubs remain tied, the Club earning the most points from the year's head-to-head competition will be placed higher in the standings. In the event an uneven number of home games against one another were played, the first game that created the disparity is discounted. Where more than two Clubs are tied in victories and points, the Club having the greatest percentage of available points earned among each other will be placed higher in the standings.
- if Clubs remain tied, each Club's "Goals Allowed" are subtracted from its "Goals For" during the entire regular season. The Club with the greater differential will be placed higher in the standings.

MEDICAL GLOSSARY

The following information was edited by Dr. Gary W. Dorshimer and used through the courtesy of the Philadelphia Flyers.

Abduction: Movement of a joint away from the center of the body.

AC Joint (Acromioclavicular joint): Joint of the shoulder where acromion process of the shoulder blade and the distal end of the collarbone meet; most shoulder separations occur at this point.

Adduction: Movement of a joint toward the center of the body.

Adhesion: Abnormal adherence of collagen fibers to surrounding structures during immobilization following trauma or as a complication of surgery which restricts normal elasticity of the structures involved; or scar tissue which forms after trauma or surgery which can restrict normal motion.

Aerobic: Exercise in which energy needed is supplied by oxygen inspired and is required for sustained periods of vigorous exercise with a continually high pulse rate.

Anabolic Steroids: Steroids that promote tissue growth by creating protein in an attempt to enhance muscle growth. The main anabolic steroid is testosterone (male sex hormones).

Anaerobic: Exercise without the use of oxygen as an energy source; short bursts of vigorous exercise.

Anterior Cruciate Ligament (ACL): A primary stabilizing ligament within the center of the knee joint that prevents hyperextension and excessive rotation of the joint. A complete tear of the ACL necessitating reconstruction could require up to 12 months of rehabilitation.

AntiInflammatory: Any agent which prevents inflammation, such as aspirin or ibuprofen.

Arteriogram: A film demonstrating arteries after injection of a dye.

Arthrogram: Xray technique for joints using air and/or dye injected into the affected area; useful in diagnosing meniscus tears of the knee and rotator cuff tears of the shoulder.

Arthroscope: An instrument used to visualize the interior of a joint cavity.

Arthroscopy: A surgical examination of the internal structures of a joint by means of viewing through an arthroscope. An arthroscopic procedure can be used to remove or repair damaged tissue or as a diagnostic procedure in order to inspect the extent of any damage or confirm a diagnosis.

Atrophy: To shrivel or shrink from disuse; as in muscular atrophy.

Baker's Cyst: Localized swelling of a bursa sac in the back of the knee as a result of fluid that has escaped from the knee capsule. A Baker's cyst indicates that there is a trauma inside the knee joint that leads to excessive fluid production.

Bone Scan: An imaging procedure in which a radioactivelabeled substance is injected into the body to determine the status of a bone injury. If the radioactive substance is taken up by the bone at the injury site, the injury will show as a "hot spot" on the scan image. The bone scan is particularly useful in the diagnosis of stress fractures.

Bursa: A fluid-filled sac that is located in areas where friction is likely to occur, then minimizes the friction; for example, between a tendon and bone.

Cartilage: Smooth, slippery substance preventing two ends of bones from rubbing together and grating. Most joints use this to cover bones next to each other. A meniscus is made of cartilage.

CAT Scan (Computerized Tomography): Use of a computer to produce a cross sectional view of the anatomical part being investigated from xray data.

Chondromalacia: Roughening of the articular cartilage. Best known for the roughening of the underside of the knee cap, which can occur in any knee cap injury.

Clavicle: Collar bone; the bone connecting the breastbone with the shoulder blade.

Coccyx: The "tail bone," a group of four vertebrae that are fused together to form a small triangular bone, located at the terminal end of the spine.

Concussion: Jarring injury of the brain resulting in dysfunction. It can be graded as mild, moderate or severe, depending on loss of consciousness, amnesia and loss of equilibrium.

Contusion: An injury to a muscle and tissues caused by a blow from a blunt object.

Corticosteroids: Used to suppress joint inflammation and inflammation in a bursa or near tendons.

Cryotherapy: A treatment with the use of cold.

Cyst: Abnormal sac containing liquid or semisolid matter.

Degenerative Joint Disease: Changes in the joint surfaces as a result of repetitive trauma and "wear and tear".

Deltoid Ligament: Ligament that connects the tibia to bones of the medial aspect of the foot and is primarily responsible for stability of the ankle on the medial side. Is sprained less frequently than other ankle ligaments.

Deltoid Muscle: Muscles at the top of the arm, just below the shoulder, responsible for shoulder motions in the front, side and back.

Disc Intervertebral: A flat, rounded plate between each vertebrae of the spine. The disc consists of a thick fiber ring which surrounds a soft gel-like interior. It functions as a cushion and shock absorber for the spinal column.

Dislocation: Complete displacement of joint surfaces.

Electromyogram (EMG): Test to determine nerve function.

Epicondylitis: Inflammation in the elbow due to overuse. Common in tennis players (outer part of elbow) and golfers (inner part of elbow).

Etiology: Study of the cause of injury and disease.

Extension: Action of straightening of a joint as achieved by an extensor muscle.

Fascia: A connective tissue sheath consisting of fibrous tissue and fat which unites the skin to the underlying tissue.

Fat Percentage: The amount of body weight that is adipose, fat tissue. Fat percentage can be calculated by underwater weighing, measuring select skinfold thickness or by analyzing electrical impedance.

Femur: Thigh bone; longest bone in the body.

Fibula: Smaller of the two bones in the lower leg; runs from the knee to the ankle along the outside of the lower leg.

Flexibility: The ability of muscle to relax and yield to stretch forces.

Fracture: Breach in continuity of a bone. Types of fractures include simple, compound, comminuted, greenstick, incomplete, impacted, longitudinal, oblique, stress or transverse.

Glenohumeral: The shoulder girdle; consists of the glenoid capsule, head of the humerus and labrum.

Glenoid: Cavity of the scapula into which the head of the humerus fits to form the shoulder girdle.

Glenoid Labrum: A rim of fibrocartilaginous tissue attached around the margin of the glenoid fossa.

Grade One Injury: A mild injury in which ligament, tendon or other musculoskeletal tissue may have been stretched, but not torn or otherwise disrupted.

Grade Two Injury: A moderate injury in which musculoskeletal tissue has been partially, but not totally torn, causing appreciable limitation in function of the injured tissue.

Grade Three Injury: A severe injury in which tissue loss has been significant, and in many cases, totally torn or otherwise disrupted, causing a virtual loss of function.

Groin: Junction of the thigh and abdomen, location of muscles that rotate, flex and adduct the hip.

Hammer Toe: Condition when the first digit of a toe is at a different angle that the remaining digits of the same toe.

Hamstring: Category of muscle that runs from the buttocks to the knee along the back of the thigh. It functions to flex the knee and is often times injured as a result of improper conditioning or lack of muscle flexibility.

Hemarthrosis: Accumulation of blood within a joint as a result of an acute injury.

Hematoma: Mass produced by an accumulation of coagulated blood in a cavity or in soft tissues.

Hip Pointer: Contusion to the iliac crest.

Hydrotherapy: Treatment using water.

Hyperextension: Extreme extension of a limb or body part.

Iliotibial Band: A thick, wide fascial layer that runs from the iliac crest to the knee joint on the outside of the thigh.

Inflammation: The body's natural response to injury in which the injury site might display various degrees of pain, swelling, heat, redness and/or loss of function.

Isometric Contraction: Muscular contraction in which tension is developed but no mechanical work is done.

Labrum (Labrum Glenoidule): The cartilage of the glenoid cavity in the shoulder. A lipedged or liplike structure.

Lateral Collateral Ligament (LCL): Ligament of the knee along the outer aspect that connects the femur to the fibula. It provides lateral stability to the joint.

Ligament: Band of fibrous tissue that connects bone to bone or bone to cartilage and supports and strengthens joints.

Magnetic Resonance Imaging (MRI): Imaging procedure in which a radio frequency pulse causes certain electrical elements of the injured tissue to react to this pulse and through this process a computer display and permanent film establish a visual image. MRI does not require radiation and is very useful in the diagnosis of soft tissue, disc and meniscus injuries.

Medial Collateral Ligament (MCL): Ligament of knee along the inner aspect that connects the femur to the tibia.

Meniscus: Crescent shaped cartilage, usually pertaining to the knee joint; also known as cartilage. There are two menisci in the knee, medial and lateral. These work to absorb weight within the knee and provide stability.

Metacarpals: Five long bones of the hand, joining the fingers to the wrist.

Metatarsals: Five long bones of the foot, running from the ankle to the toes.

Myositis: Inflammation of a muscle.

Orthotic: Any device applied to or around the body of physical impairment of disability commonly used to control foot mechanics.

Osteochondritis Dessicans: A piece of bone and/or cartilage loosened from its attachment after trauma and a cause of a lesion.

Osteomyelitis: An inflammatory disease of bone caused usually by infection with streptococcus or staphylococcus.

Patella: The kneecap. The patella functions to protect the distal end of the femur as well as increase the mechanical advantage and force generating capacities of the quadriceps muscle group.

Plantar Fasciitis: Inflammation of the plantar (a thick tissue on the bottom of the foot which helps create the arch) fascia; associated with overuse or acute foot injury.

Posterior Cruciate Ligament (PCL): A primary stabilizing ligament of the knee that provides significant stability and prevents displacement of the tibia backward within the knee joint. A complete tear of this ligament necessitating reconstruction could require up to 12 months of rehabilitation.

Quadricep Muscles: A group of four muscles of the front thigh that run from the hip and form a common tendon at the patella; they are responsible for knee extension.

Radius: Bone in the forearm from elbow to the thumb side of the wrist.

Reconstruction: Surgical rebuilding of a joint using natural, artificial or transplanted materials.

Rotator Cuff: Comprised of four muscles in the shoulder area that can be irritated by overuse. The muscles are the supraspinatus (most commonly injured), infraspinatus, teres minor and subscapularis.

Sacroiliac: Junction of the sacrum, the lower back bone, with the pelvis.

Sacrum: Group of five fused vertebrae located just below the lumbar vertebrae of the lower back, which form part of the pelvis.

Scapula: Shoulder blade.

Sciatica: Irritation of the sciatic nerve resulting in pain or tingling running down the inside of the leg.

Sciatic Nerve: Major nerve that carries impulses for muscular action and sensations between the low back and thigh and lower leg; it is the longest nerve in the body.

Shin Splint: A catch-all syndrome describing pain in the shin that is not a fracture or tumor and cannot be defined otherwise.

Spleen: Large, solid organ responsible for the normal production and destruction of blood cells located under the left rib cage.

Spondylosis: Abnormal vertebral fixation or immobility.

Sprain: Injury resulting from the stretch or twist of the joint and causes various degrees of stretch or tear of a ligament or other soft tissue at the joint.

Strain: Injury resulting from a pull or torsion to the muscle or tendon that causes various degrees of stretch or tear to the muscle or tendon tissue.

Stress Fracture: A hairline type of break in a bone caused by overuse.

Subluxation: Partial dislocation of a joint. The term usually implies that the joint can return to a normal position without formal reduction.

Synovial Fluid: Lubricating fluid for joints and tendons, produced in synovium, or the inner lining of a joint.

Synovitis: Inflammation of the synovial lining of a joint.

Talus: The ankle bone that articulates with the tibia and fibula to form the ankle joint.

Tarsals: Group of seven bones of the foot consisting of the calnavicular, talus, cuboid and three cuneiform bones.

Tendinitis: Inflammation of the tendon and/or tendon sheath, caused by chronic overuse or sudden injury.

Tendon: Tissue that connects muscle to bone.

Tenosynovitis: Swelling or inflammation of a tendon sheath caused by calcium deposits, repeated strain or trauma.

Tibia: Shin bone; larger of the two bones of the lower leg and is the weightbearing bone of the shin.

Transcutaneous Electrical Nerve Stimulator (TENS): An electrical modality that sends a mild current through pads at the injury site which stimulates the brain to release the natural analgesic endorphin.

Transverse Process: Small lateral projection off the right and left side of each vertebrae that functions as an attachment site for muscles and ligaments of the spine.

Triceps: Muscle of the back of the upper arm, primarily responsible for extending the elbow.

Ulna: Inner bone of the forearm that runs from the tip of the elbow to the little finger side of the wrist.

Ulna Nerve: Nerve in the elbow commonly irritated from excessive throwing.

Ultrasound: An electrical modality that transmits a sound wave through an applicator into the skin to the soft tissue in order to heat the local area for relaxing the injured tissue and/or disperse edema.

"Wind Knocked Out": Syndrome describing a contraction of the abdominal nerve truck, the solar plexus, as a result of an abdominal contusion.

CENTRAL DIVISION	NORTHWEST DIVISION	PACIFIC DIVISION
Chicago Blackhawks	Calgary Flames	Mighty Ducks of Anaheim
Detroit Red Wings	Colorado Avalanche	Dallas Stars
Nashville Pedators	Edmonton Oilers	Los Angeles Kings
St. Louis Blues	Vancouver Canucks	Phoenix Coyotes
Columbus Blue Jackets (2000-01)		San Jose Sharks

EASTERN CONFERENCE

ATLANTIC DIVISION	NORTHEAST DIVISION	SOUTHEAST DIVISION
New Jersey Devils	Boston Bruins	Carolina Hurricanes
New York Islanders	Buffalo Sabres	Florida Panthers
New York Rangers	Montréal Canadiens	Tampa Bay Lightning
Philadelphia Flyers	Ottawa Senators	Washington Capitals
Pittsburgh Penguins	Toronto Maple Leafs	Atlanta Thrashers (1999-00)
	Minnesota Wild (2000-01)

SCHEDULE

Each team plays 82-game schedule.

The Eastern Conference teams will play five times against divisional opponents, four times against teams in the other divisions of their conference and one time against each of the 13 teams in the Western Conference. In addition, each team will play a minimum of 12 "wild card" games. The "wild card" games were included based on promoting geographic as well as traditional rivalries.

The Western Conference teams will play six times against divisional opponents, four times against teams in the other divisions of their conference and one time against each of the 14 teams in the Eastern Conference. Again, each team will play a minimum of 12 "wild card" games.

TIE-BREAKER FORMULA

To break tie in final regular-season standings, following methods are used:

1. Most overall victories; 2. Best record in games between tied teams; 3. Best differential between goals for and goals against during 82-game regular season; 4. Meeting or conference call between league general managers.

STANLEY CUP PLAYOFFS

Sixteen of the 27 teams will qualify for the 1998-99 Stanley Cup Playoffs. The first place team in each division will qualify for the playoffs (6 teams), as well as the next five best teams in each conference. The three division winners in each conference will be seeded first through third for the playoffs and the next five best teams, in order of points, will be seeded fourth through eighth. Teams will be reseeded at the start of each subsequent round. In each conference, #1 will play #8, #2 vs. #7, #3 vs. #6, and #4 vs. #5 in the best-of-seven Conference Quarterfinals. The Conference Semifinals, Conference Finals and Stanley Cup Finals will also remain best-of-seven series.
